Introducing Father Patrick O’Neil, OP

Hello! As a Dominican priest, I have long wanted to be assigned at a retreat center however my availability for such an assignment never seemed to coincide when the right situation became open. Until now! I am delighted to have the opportunity to serve the Archdiocese in the capacity of Director of Vallombrosa Center. I am trained and experienced in spiritual direction, in leading retreats and conferences, in medical ethics, in hospice ministry, and in parish and Newman center ministries. Before being ordained, I was in the trial courtroom almost daily for 13 years where I worked as a public defender and was subsequently appointed to a judicial position in Superior Court. Then, I returned to religious life—that’s right, returned. You can learn more about my personal journey on our website, vallombrosa.org.

I look forward to adding my own efforts and talents to those of the truly splendid and gifted folks here at Vallombrosa who have been hosting and sponsoring retreats and conferences—some for as long as 27 years. In addition to leading my own group retreat and conference offerings, I look forward to meeting individually with other priests, with religious, with lay ministers, with veterans (because I am one), with professionals, especially those laboring in the fields of law and healthcare (because I’ve been one) and just plain seekers. I welcome meeting with anyone who is seeking his or her God, who wants to pray and grow in intimacy with God and to know God’s embrace, who is discerning (at whatever age) who God created them to be or are perhaps discerning God’s call, who is sorting out how to live in a countercultural world, and/or who is simply trying to make sense of things. I think of Vallombrosa as a clearing in the thicket—a peaceful and sacred ground for you to come to for reflection, for prayer and for contemplation, to walk or simply to sit quietly…and to breathe freely, again.

I truly believe that God wants each of us to be free, responsible, loving, and—yes, even—happy. At Vallombrosa our retreats, workshops, and conferences are designed to help us to be fully alive Christians. I invite you every so often to look over our list of offerings and consider attending at least one of them. Until we meet . . .

Blessings!

Fr. Patrick
I believe that everyone who comes to Vallombrosa has a desire deep in their heart to be close to God. We want to enflame and to nurture that desire. Regardless which retreat, workshop or conference attended, our goal is to invite persons to become more aware of the spiritual realm (whether they were conscious of that possibility or not)—that realm in which each of us moves, and breathes, and has our true being. Then, we can see through the surface appearances and illusions of this world and learn to trust our inner vision of soul. That is why I call these acres “a clearing in the thicket.” Here, we can awaken to our most authentic self, becoming more fully the person whom God created us to be.

- Fr. Patrick

Our Very Own Vegetable/Herb Garden

When asked to describe Vallombrosa Center to a friend what comes to mind? Is it a special retreat experience you had, or maybe the beautiful grounds and gardens, or is it the quiet, peaceful meditation spaces? Usually our guests remember the delicious, nutritious food they had while they stayed with us. As one guest commented: “The food was fantastic and fresh. It was varied and nourishing, well prepared and tasty.”

As we strive for a healthier lifestyle, Vallombrosa makes every effort to serve heart-healthy, low sodium but tasty, delicious meals. We purchase locally grown fruits and vegetables, our soups and entrees are prepared fresh each day. This summer Francisco Garcia, our gardener extraordinaire, cleared a section of the grounds outside the Vallombrosa Kitchen and planted some herbs and fresh vegetables. On August 24, Fr. Patrick with the entire Vallombrosa staff held a blessing over the vegetable and herb garden. Daily our chefs pick and use these fresh herbs and vegetables; parsley, oregano, thyme, tomatoes, jalapeno peppers and squash to name a few, in preparing the meals. On your next visit to Vallombrosa we invite you to visit the Vallombrosa Garden.

“A Clearing in the Thicket”

In addition to the many retreat offerings and workshops sponsored by Vallombrosa Center, each year we also welcome several thousand individuals who want to use our conference facilities (with numerous break-out rooms conducive for smaller discussions), enjoy great meals, and walk through our relaxing grounds. They come to us as members of professional committees, high school, or college faculties; charismatic, evangelical, or meditative prayer groups; parish staffs on retreat; high school juniors, or seniors on Kairos retreats; RCIA or Confirmation groups; Mindfulness or Centering Prayer practicums; Enneagram symposia; interfaith groups; bilingual groups; non-profit leadership boards here for planning sessions; groups of new pastors, or seniors or men and/or women on retreat; lay religious auxiliaries; and religious orders and clergy from several dioceses.

“Sacred Music for the Holidays”
A Festive Christmas Concert at Vallombrosa

Mark your calendars now for Sunday, December 2, at 4:00 p.m., as we are delighted that renowned Irish singer and songwriter Mary Mc Laughlin, and her Cór Ainglí Singers will again present their exciting holiday concert at Vallombrosa Center. Also featured this year will be the highly regarded women’s vocal ensemble Zambra, a Celebration of Women’s Voices.

Accompanied by traditional musicians, including Celtic harper Steven Coulter, Mary and her Cór Ainglí (“Angelical Choir”) Singers will perform songs from her forthcoming album Sacred Days, Mythic Ways, a celebration of Gregorian chant and ancient Gaelic sacred and mythic song. Mary’s thrilling interpretations of Gregorian chant and Gaelic traditional song is further augmented by her knack for story-telling and entertaining an audience.

Zambra, a nine-voice ensemble takes an eclectic approach to vocal harmonies from around the planet, both a capella and with traditional accompaniment. Their portion of the program weaves together seasonal and sacred music ranging from Renaissance polyphony, early American shape-note hymns, Sephardic laments, Hebrew folkdance tunes, and traditional British carols.

Each group will perform a set; then they will come together to sing Christmas songs in Irish Gaelic, including favorites from Mary’s A Gaelic Christmas concert series, which delighted a capacity audience in Vallombrosa’s chapel last year. You won’t want to miss this stunning and dynamic Christmas performance!

Holidays Alone?
A Workshop led by Carol Kaplan, MFT

Despite the cultural pressure and the media promotions, for many people the holidays can be difficult. If you are experiencing grief, estrangement from family, financial loss, single by some circumstance, or other sorrow and wondering how to survive the holiday season, this one day workshop is a chance to re-consider how and why and what to celebrate, or not.

Come for a time to “reframe the holidays,” share with others, and spiritually reflect.

The grounds and gardens of Vallombrosa, famous for their peace and serenity, will also be available to you throughout the day for a quiet walk and reflection.

Carol Kaplan, MFT is a widow with children and grandchildren. She was a consultant for Hospice for 3 years, is an avid traveler and enthusiastic gardener. She has been giving retreats for over 20 years.

Catholic Marriage Preparation
Catholic marriage preparation involves several steps, one of which is the Pre-Cana Program. This program takes several forms, and each parish decides what is required: an Engaged Encounter Weekend, or a one-day session which meets the diocesan requirements. Vallombrosa staff have worked with the Archdiocese of San Francisco and the Diocese of San Jose to create a one-day Pre-Cana Program which will include presentations/workshops by Catholic professionals on various aspects of married life, such as Intimacy, Communication, Spirituality, Role Expectations, and Sexuality. In each workshop there will be time for a couple to work together on issues they wish to discuss. This one day Pre-Cana Session will meet on a Saturday every other month from 9am until 4pm.

Saturday, November 10, 2012
Exploring Mind-Body Skills for Stress Reduction
A Workshop led by Cynthia McDonald, Ph.D.
Explore the power of the mind-body connection. In this half-day, 8:30 am – noon, hands-on workshop, Dr. McDonald will discuss some of the research around simple and proven techniques that activate the relaxation response such as guided imagery, breathing techniques, mindful awareness, and simple forms of meditation. Dr. McDonald will also offer practical suggestions and teach you how to integrate these tools into your daily routines so you can truly “take a break” anytime, anywhere.

Cynthia McDonald, Ph.D., holds a doctorate in Transpersonal Psychology and has over 18 years of combined experience in teaching, mind-body skills coaching, counseling, guided imagery, hypnosis, group facilitation, and spiritual coaching.
